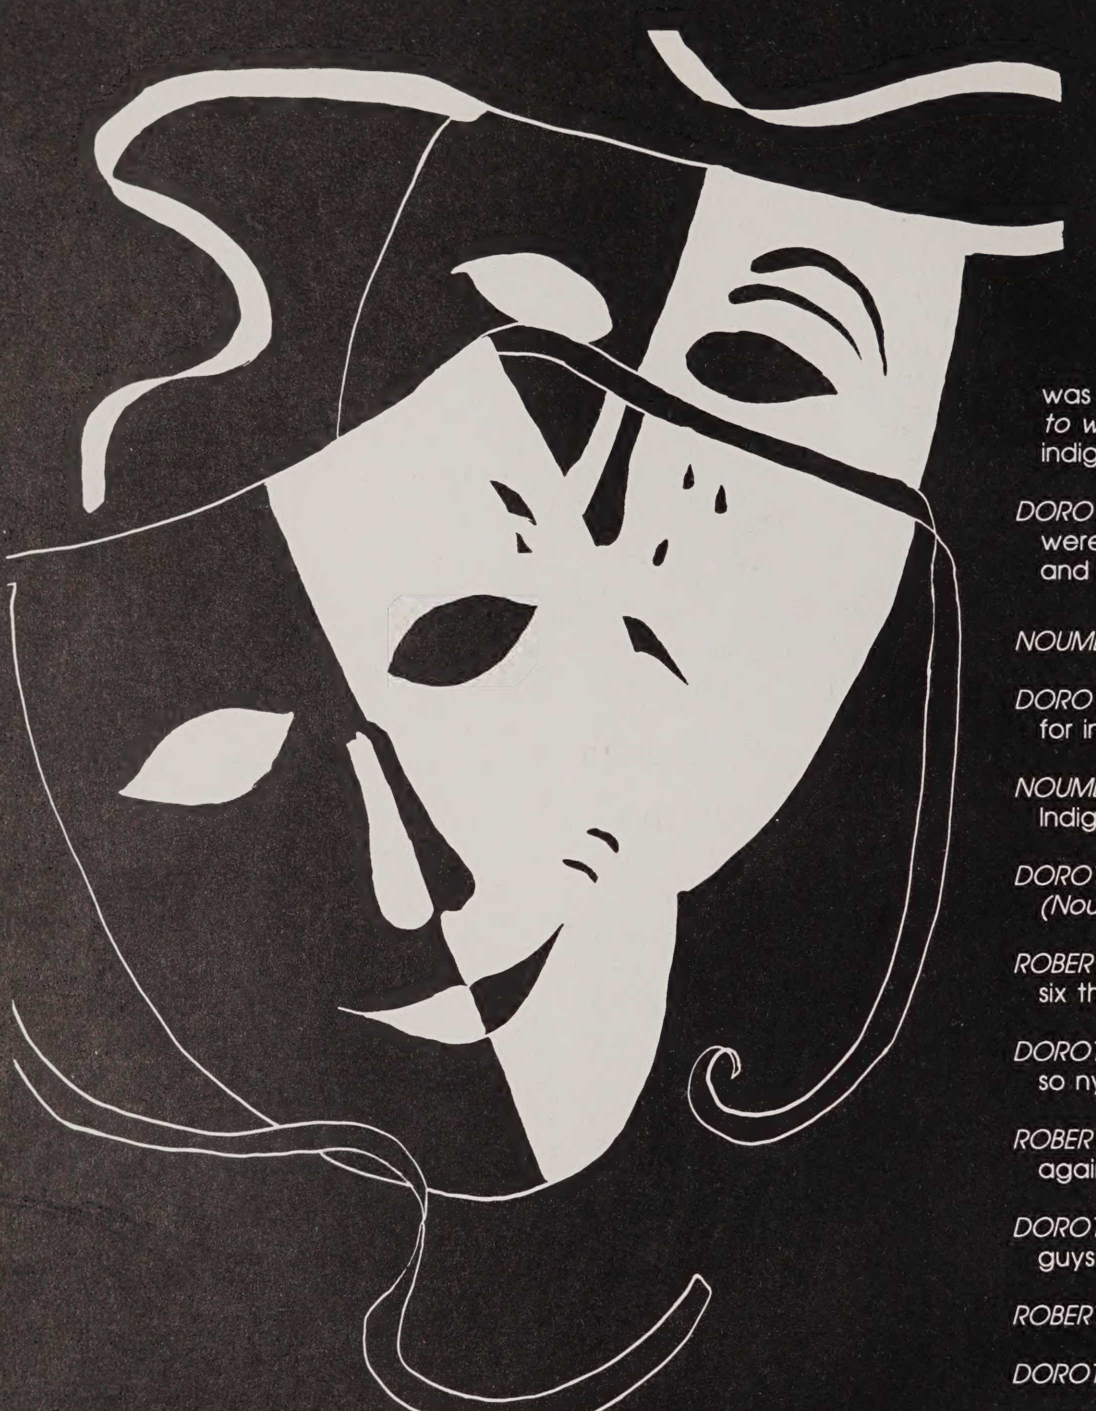
Looking Inward, Reaching Upward



Cast of characters: Robert Kemp, Dorothy Van Heusen, and the Noumenon.

Scene: Three chairs are in a row facing the audience. Dorothy Van Heusen is sitting in the chair on the left. She and Robert, who will enter from the right, are archetypes, symbols of Shrewsbury High School's Class of 1985. The Noumenon (who should wear grey or black, in contrast to the students' blue and gold) changes his role frequently, probing to find the thing inside our class that makes us tick and strive upwards for higher goals.

ROBERT: Is anyone sitting here?

DOROTHY: I think so.

ROBERT: Oh. (He sits down anyway in center chair.)

DOROTHY: How'd you do on the quiz?

ROBERT: The vocab? O. K., I guess. Some of them were so much alike I couldn't remember which was which. (Noumenon begins to walk across stage.) Was indigenous poor?

DOROTHY: I don't know. There were two of them: indigenous and indigent. Hey, Mr. Eddleton.

NOUMENON: Yes, Dorothy.

DOROTHY: What was the definition for indigenous?

NOUMENON: Indigenous is native. Indigent is poor.

DOROTHY: Oh. Thank you. (Noumenon walks on.)

ROBERT: I probably got an eighty-six then.

DOROTHY: Well I got a ninety-four, so nyah.

ROBERT: Little Miss Muffet strikes again.

DOROTHY: I don't know why you guys call me that.

ROBERT: Ask Dave.

DOROTHY: You eat like a pig.

ROBERT: Excuse me, Miss Muffet.

NOUMENON: (carrying tray) Excuse me, but I was sitting here before.

DOROTHY: Yeah, Rob. Get out of his seat.

ROBERT: Sorry. (He stands up and moves to the right hand chair.).

DOROTHY: Are you new here?

NOUMENON: Yeah. How do you do?

DOROTHY: What's your name?

NOUMENON: Noumenon.

ROBERT: Is that your first name?

NOUMENON: No. My first name's Joe.

DOROTHY: Hi, Joe.

ROBERT: What'd you think of Janet in history today? (Fakes a laugh) "Africa, ha, ha." We should have voted her for most space cadet.

DOROTHY: (giggles) She's always late too.

ROBERT: I know. She never gets to class on time, but she raises her hand all the time, so she never gets in trouble.

NOUMENON: She didn't look that bad to me

ROBERT: Well, she's a nice kid, but she thinks she knows everything and she doesn't.

DOROTHY: She does try.

NOUMENON: Aren't you supposed to try?

ROBERT: If you want to talk about weird people, you should see Ernie.

DOROTHY: Sometimes he makes faces in English that are so stupid I just crack up.

NOUMENON: (to Robert) But you wore a tutu at the pep rally, didn't you?

ROBERT: How'd you know about that?

NOUMENON: I saw your picture in the paper.

ROBERT: Oh. (He laughs briefly.)

DOROTHY: (to the rescue) It was for the school spirit.

NOUMENON: What is the school spirit?

DOROTHY: You know, when everybody's yelling at the pep rally or wearing blue and gold.

NOUMENON: I know that, but what are you yelling for?

ROBERT: The school.

NOUMENON: You applaud the school because it's the school. That's a vicious circle, not a reason.

DOROTHY: Well, (shrugs her shoulders)

(Pause.)

ROBERT: School spirit is the things we do together.

NOUMENON: I thought you did them together because you had school spirit.

DOROTHY: That's it. School spirit is the thing that each of us finds for different reasons inside himself. Maybe he does it to be the center of attention, or maybe he wants to be among friends and belong, or maybe he has a martyr complex, sacrificing himself for other people. Or, he's trying to impress his girlfriend.

ROBERT: Or she's trying to attract boyfriends.

DOROTHY: But the school spirit is what people find individually when they look inwards and then use to create more spirit as they reach upwards.

NOUMENON: Yelling in the gym is reaching upwards.

ROBERT: (heating up) Don't be such a cynic. Maybe the reaching upwards is individual too. Everyone is different. One guy will write a poem, one guy will throw a party, another might solve the physics labs, and another knows more about your car than you do, but when we yell in the gym, that's when we're doing it all together.

DOROTHY: You could think of it as the future too. We reach upwards to be doctors, engineers, lawyers, and managers ten years from now.

NOUMENON: (holds his hands palm out, in defense) You know more about this than I do. I just got here. Oh yeah, was indigent native?

ROBERT: No, the other way around.

NOUMENON: Shoot. (Gets up) Well, I'll see you guys around. (He leaves a yellow styrofoam tray on his seat.)

ROBERT: Is Ellen going out with anybody?

DOROTHY: No. Why, do you like her?

ROBERT: I don't know.

DOROTHY: She's real nice.

NOUMENON: (enters dragging a trash can) Are we all done here?

DOROTHY: I believe so, Mr. Saunders.

NOUMENON: We'll just clean things up. (Dorothy puts the tray on the middle seat into the trash can.) Thank you, dear.

DOROTHY: You're welcome, Mr. Saunders. (Noumenon exits with trash). What's going on this weekend?

ROBERT: There's a party at Tom's house Friday night.

DOROTHY: You going?

ROBERT: Everybody is. Ugh.

DOROTHY: Ugh what?

ROBERT: We've got that calculus test next period. Integration by parts.

DOROTHY: I've got to do my oral dissertation for biology tomorrow. And don't even talk about computer projects.

DEDICATION

Mr. Donald Kaminski

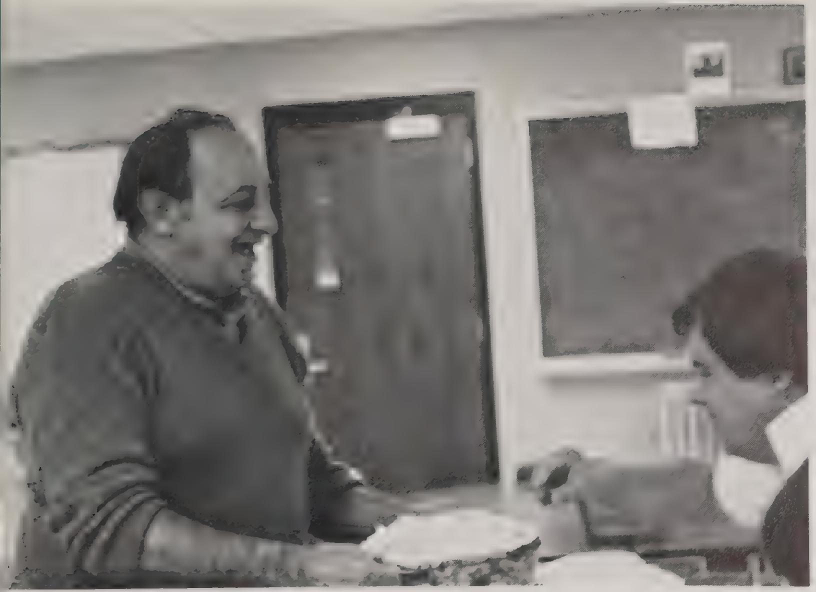
I must go down to the seas again,
For the call of the running tide . . .

This line from John Masefield's poem "Sea Fever" aptly describes Mr. Donald Kaminski's oceanography students' perception of him. Donald Kaminski has been teaching in Shrewsbury for twenty-three years. For the past fifteen years, he has presented his students with a rare opportunity to study oceanography. In class, on oceanographic ventures and on trips to the Caribbean, Mr. Kaminski inspires his students to become independent thinkers and challenges them to develop fully their potential as responsible, knowledgeable individuals. The Class of 1985 has seen the departure and advent of advisors over the past four years; however, like a true commander, Mr. Donald Kaminski stayed with us as financial advisor from our freshman year through graduation.

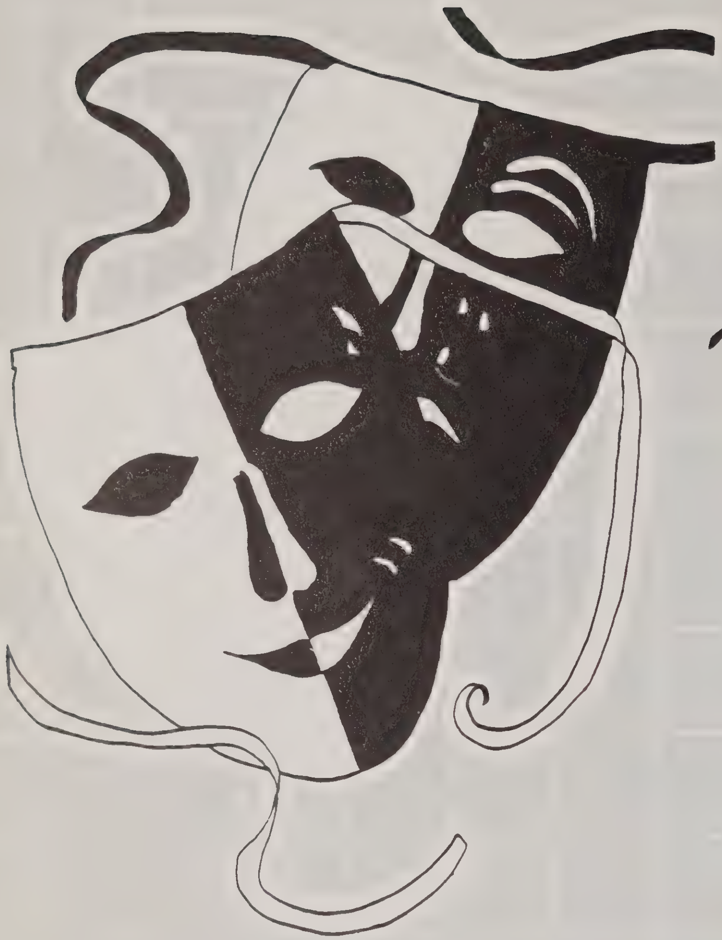
Mr. Anthony Manzello

Who's a teacher in our school
Who's here for you and me?
That's easy—Anthony "Tony" Manzello

For the past twenty years, Tony has been teaching, loving, and disciplining the students in his special classes. Although his primary teaching assignment is that of educating the special needs students, Tony has endeared himself to the student body as well. He has accomplished this by use of the same qualities—understanding, love, and discipline when needed—used with his special children. Parents of all these children are aware of Tony's special gifts and have also depended upon him over the years.



Looking deep within our hearts, we, the Class of 1985, wish to dedicate our yearbook to two very special men, Mr. Tony Manzello and Mr. Donald Kaminski. Both of these men, through their unselfish service and dedication, have endeared themselves not only to our class, as advisors, but to the entire school as well. Mr. Manzello and Mr. Kaminski, for all of yourselves that you've given to us, we thank you both by dedicating to you our 1985 yearbook.



Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

NOUMENON: Robert, will you please pick up that milk carton.

ROBERT: Yes, sir (picks it up).

DOROTHY: Just think, In a few months, no one will be able to say that to us.

ROBERT: I know. Weird isn't it?

DOROTHY: I'm going to go to the reunion just to see what everyone ended up as. You'll probably be an engineer.

ROBERT: Yeah, right.

DOROTHY: And I'll be President.

ROBERT: Due to what, your leadership abilities?

DOROTHY: No, my photogenic smile. If Ronald Reagan and Geraldine Ferraro can do it, so can I.

NOUMENON: How would you describe your school?

ROBERT: Pardon?

NOUMENON: What's the most important thing about it?

ROBERT: The learning . . .

DOROTHY: The people. Everybody's sort of nice to everybody else.

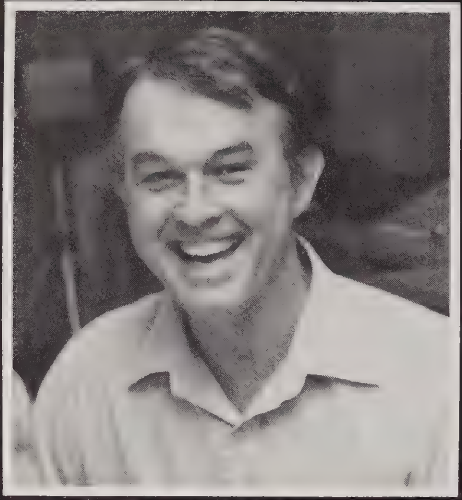
ROBERT: Be real. It's a little world, with rich kids and poor kids, kids with all the breaks and kids with all the problems.

DOROTHY: There's no jock/freak war at our school. People try to work together.

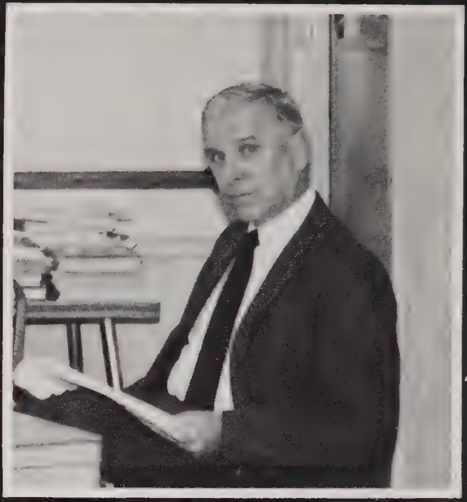
ROBERT: People get together in their own little groups, though.

Class Of 1985 Advisors

Mr. Anthony Manzello



Mr. Jeffrey Robbins



Mr. Donald Kaminski

Mrs. Donna Simone

We the Class of 1985 give our warmest thanks to our dedicated advisors. You have given us your ideas, support, time, and friendship. You were the special people who made it all happen. For your patience and guidance, originality and hard work, we thank you.

Thanks for being with us at Riverside Park. We hope Jeff has since gotten over his water sickness from the log ride. Mr. Manzello, the flea market really was a good attempt. Mr. Kaminski, we couldn't have managed the "ship", so to speak, without you. Donna, thanks for plugging through to the end. We appreciate all you've done for the Senior Prom and gift. In our hearts, you will always be remembered.

A song was heard after one of the infamous senior meetings in the auditorium. It went: " They said they'd all go down together . . . "

We may never pass this way again;
I wanna laugh while the laughin
Is easy.
I wanna smile and make it all worth while.
I may never pass this way again,
That's why there is nothing in
All this world like friendship,
When it is deep and real.

Joe . . . School seems to take up most of my time these days. But with the time left over, I will gladly contemplate the enormity of the heavens. To seek to understand the universe in all its gradure and magnificance, to observe my own world and its people, in its peace and beauty and its violence and despair. We have grown too fond of the heavens to be fearful of the night . . . . I would like it said of my lifetime, that I contributed one small step in our understanding of the universe.

Each chapter that is ending leads us to a new beginning
The past that we are leaving
Means a future we are winning
Find confidence within your heart
And let it be your guide
Strive ever harder toward your dreams
And they won't be denied.

Future plans: to be successful and happy . . . "Total Eclipse of the Heart" + "Hello" = Carl.

Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

DOROTHY: When a project comes along, like the prom or the halloween party or the talent show, we all help out.

ROBERT: The smokers are the only ones who get to go outside and the beemos can walk the halls and never get harrassed about a pass. It's not fair.

DOROTHY: (to Robert) Go talk to the Student Advisory Committee. (to Noumenon) People try to work together.

NOUMENON: Do you have any work experience?

ROBERT: Not really, I pumped gas one summer.

DOROTHY: I worked at McFarland's Ice Cream all last year.

NOUMENON: What sorts of things do you do after school?

ROBERT: I'm on the varsity football team, sometimes I go to the math meets. I used to be in the science club.

DOROTHY: I run track.

NOUMENON: What happens at a game or a race if you're tired or you ache or you're losing?

ROBERT: You keep going.

NOUMENON: Why?

DOROTHY: Something inside makes you.

ROBERT: You make it sound like Chariots of Fire or something.

The sights and sounds of Shrewsbury

If you aren't still waiting for the perpetually red light at the center to turn green, then by driving around town you may see some of these things. Shrewsbury High students can often be found gathering after school at the AM PM, the pizzaria, or Dean Park. At night though, many stop off at the Ground Round or Burger King to grab a midnight snack. In the winter, the favorite hot spot, though, is Ward Hill.

To earn money, many work at the library, Friendly's, or Frosty's and those who are lucky enough to get Sunday off, may choose to attend one of the five churches in town. Hopefully, you won't find many of us on Maple Ave. at the police station.

Sophomore Class Trip

Jody, Why are you all wet?

Hold on TIGHT!!!

JOYCE, What did you think of this ride?

Are we really going to go through with this?

The SWISS BOBSLED

Having fun DAN?!!

1985 has got LEGS!!!!!!

The class of 1985's Sophomore class trip was to Riverside Park in Agawam, MA. Our advisors were Mr. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Kaminski and Mr. and Mrs. Robbins who chaperoned a total of eighty-five students. With the exception of a few sunburns and upset stomachs a good time was had by all.

Broadway comes to Shrewsbury High

Hold still, Tim! Holly's no Picasso.

Don't ask me, I just live here!

And what have you been drinking, Beth?

What do you mean I have to be in by 10?

If looks could kill!!!

Is there a problem, gentlemen?

"Heaven, we're in Heaven . . ."

Court: Kim Johnson, Lynne Flanagan, Cynthia Violette, Queen; Melissa Adams, Robin McCleod.

Looking Heavenward.

Does it have to end so soon?

The Class of 1985 transformed our gym into a "heaven on earth" on the evening of May 12, 1984. The couples walked through the pearly gates of "HEAVEN" and danced to the beat of the Marcels. As the band played our theme song, Bryan Adams' "Heaven", the court, consisting of Melissa Adams, Lynne Flanagan, Kim Johnson, and Robin McLeod was chosen, and Cindy Violette was crowned queen.

Know all men by these presents: that

I, Jose Manuel Abeleira Alvarez, leave to Shrewsbury High School my return-ticket to Spain, my tennis raquet, and one bullfight in the football ground.

IN HISTORY

We had a new President: Ronald Reagan. We had a new headmaster: Mr. Charles Ferris. And we had a new school: Shrewsbury High. As freshmen, eager to master the Rubik's Cube, Pac Man, and sophisticated teenage life, the Class of 1985 took control of the school by winning our first pep rally. Vice president Penny John, treasurer Marni Wasso, and class advisor Mr. Kaminski all began their four-year reigns. A Hebert's Candy fundraiser brought in two hundred dollars, but a freshman mixer flopped with a net profit of one whole dollar. Alexander Haig resigned.

Over the summer, marines were sent to Beirut, E.T. phoned home, and the Valley Girl was born (the Peloskys never spoke English again). Mr. Ferris welcomed us back with a new attendance policy. While Reagan ate jelly beans, Mr. Holmes and sophomore class president Maryellen Horan designed our ring and started planning ahead for the junior prom. The AM/PM mini-market was established, soon to be come a midnight meeting place and mecca for SHSers. The school became famous — Evening Magazine no less — when Mr. Pottle won the Massachusetts Teacher of the Year award. We clinched Spirit Week with our Rebel Yell, "More, more, more . . ."

The Soviet Union lost Leonid Brezhnev, and we regretted the loss (to the private sector) of Mr. Holmes — the one teacher who could really burn Larry Mitchell. Before he went, though, he helped the officers (with Sherri Piuze as secretary) coordinate a painter's hats fundraiser and a class trip to Riverside amusement park. The girls' tennis team won the league two years in a row. Ann Marie Pelosky, Mary Beth Pelosky, Maureen Flynn, Paula Tumas, and Sue Burton were all on the student council.

As juniors we had a lot to deal with. Computers began to take over the world, and Mr. Plati in particular. The Soviet Union shot down Korean Air Lines flight #007. The United States invaded Grenada. The federal government asked the school to warn us that the nuclear holocaust documentary "The Day After" might be traumatic to our younger brothers and sisters. Bill David's locker burnt down (but Larry Mitchell and Class Marshall Ken Dearden put it out). Movies like "Risky Business," however, taught us to take it all in stride.

We learned to drive. We took the PSAT/NMSQT's, the SAT's, the ACT's, and the achievements. Cable TV, with Michael Jackson, MTV, and two free weeks of all the channels, invaded our homes. Class advisor Jeff Robbins started to videoize (or videotape) the world, including the yearbook! The eighth graders invaded our school. Yuri Andropov died. Excelsior, a new literary journal, stormed onto the scene. Although the administration rigged Spirit Week, we know who really won. Again.

"Heaven" was the theme and the Marcels the band for the Junior Prom. Class advisor Mr. Manzello worked behind the scenes. Cindy Violette was the WHERE'S THE BEEF?

Queen, and her court was Melissa Adams, Lynne Flanagan, Kim Johnson, and Robin McLeod. Class president Zachary Robbins starred in the junior class play, "You Can't Take It With You." Our only fundraiser, the play told the story of a romance between Alice Sycamore (Karen Isaacson) and Tony Kirby (Rick Taylor). The snobby Kirbys (Jodi Johnson and Dave Loconto) simply couldn't tolerate the zany Sycamores (who exploded fire crackers, kept a pet cobra, put Tim Zona (Town Crier editor) into a toga, and welcomed Russian exiles, like class secretary Cindy Welter who flaunted her Russian blintzes). Stage manager Janice Steinberg held the production together. The student council held such illustrious members as John Driscoll, the Peloskys, Joyce O'Connor, Rick Taylor, and Meg Rooney. Audrey Vuona, Gina Mattero, and Teresa Tomao nourished us on M&M's in the open cafeteria studies.

Shrewsbury High School students began to enter the limelight of higher awards and honors. Zachary Robbins, Michael McNamara, Chris King, and Ray Chin were Boys' State Representatives, and Holly Coolidge went to Girls' State. Christina Manos (Holy Cross Book Award), Lynne Flanagan, Kristine McCulloch, Laurie DesMarais, Beverly Riding, Melissa Adams, and Eleanor Moody were all National Merit Commended Students, while Caleb Crain (Harvard Book Award, Bausch and Lomb Science Award) and Vivie Lee (Brown Book Award) went on to be National Merit Semifinalists. Joyce O'Connor and Mary Beth Pelosky went to the National Student Council convention in Coventry, Rhode Island. Elizabeth Trippi and Christina Manos went to the National Forensic League national competitions in Cincinnati, Ohio, while Caleb Crain and Vivie Lee went to national math competitions in Pennsylvania.

We thought about sending our girls' track team to the Olympics, considering that they never lost a meet while we were in high school. Robin McLeod went to the Junior Olympic Basketball competitions in Albequerque, New Mexico. Twin additions Greg and Paul Swinand went to world championship bicycling trials. Both track teams went to districts' competitions, and the crew team finished respectably in the schoolboy sprints on Lake Quinsigamond, although the assistant coach ran over the girl's crew boat.

In the fall of our senior year, everybody wanted to be President of the United States, from an ex-astronaut to the leader of the Rainbow Coalition. All we wanted to do was graduate. The Yuppies battled the nerds outside in the real world, and Clara Peller asked "Where's the beef?" while Bill Murray fought an enormous Sta-puf marshmallow man. Applications essays and financial aid forms plagued those of us who planned to go to college. The College Board in Princeton, New Jersey, swallowed our money and became our least favorite institution. Those planning a more direct route carried the torch into the second year of Jobs for Bay State Graduates, under president Gina Leone, vice president Beth Russell, and secretary Tammy Habib. A horde of foreign exchange students invaded Shrewsbury High, so that we could no longer claim that we were all "Born in the USA!"

Doug Flutie failed to inspire the football team, which ended with a record of 0-10 (0-9 for some!). Nonetheless life went on. The field hockey team reached districts, where they lost in overtime with an unconscious goalie. The hockey team, with seniors Scott Notargiacomo, John Gremo, and Steve Ambach, had its best record in years.

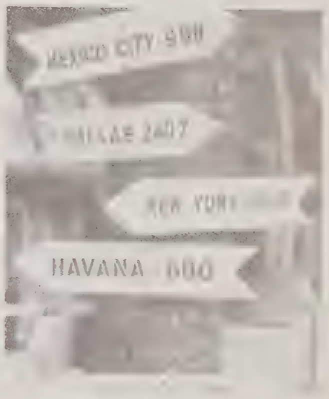
The National Honor Society (Caleb Crain, president) and the Student Council (Mary Beth Pelosky, president) charmed younger Shrewsbury with the annual Halloween party. A bunch of senior girls threw together a profitable MORP, with pizzas and a disc jockey in the cafeteria. Under senior class president Ann Marie Pelosky, and with the assistance of the unbelievably dedicated advisor Donna Simone, the senior class sold candles and worked on creating the senior prom (theme: "Tender Years") at the Sheraton-Lincoln. While relief agencies everywhere sent food to starving Ethiopia, the National Honor Society sent gifts and candy in hundreds of baby-food jar Santa Clauses (Dr. Murphy's inspiration) to the Worcester Mustard Seed. Early Decisions abounded. Caleb Crain cut class to chase a mailman and Vivie Lee's parents phoned her in Taiwan when they both got accepted Early Action to Harvard University. Rusty Austin was appointed to the Naval Academy, provided his brain scans come out all right.

In January, punk rockers Mary Galli and Virginia Petronio were happy to hear that U2 was coming to Worcester and that John Scheffel and Glenn Nataupsky were giving a "Blind Rage" heavy metal concert, to raise money for cancer research. Mr. Feldheimer, one of four finalists for Massachusetts Teacher of the Year, directed the senior musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," with leads Zachary Robbins and Meg Rooney. Just when we finally got interested in classes the fire alarms started, which prompted the administration to search us for passes at every corner. Needless to say, the only smoke ever found was in the bathrooms!



The friends and memories of Shrewsbury High School will remain with us for many years. We have learned from our teachers, our administrators, and one another how to survive and work together, knowledge with which to challenge the outside world. Hopefully class reunions will be as interesting and rewading as the last four years have been.

It all began in the spring of '84 when a group of unassuming, inexperienced students were chosen to be the next yearbook staff. After being broken in through a series of educational seminars at Bryant College, Bentley College, Boston University, and the Marriott, the real task was undertaken. The week before deadlines brought high blood pressure, late nights, and last minute alterations, but all in all, it proved to be a successful year. Many thanks to the staff and all others who helped — Jeff Robbins and Mr. Goyette with last minute pictures, and Zack Robbins for providing the extra support wherever it was needed. Finally special thanks to Dan Smith, our Josten's representative who instructed and encouraged us throughout this production.

This year was the third annual Halloween Party held at the High School. It proved to be an even greater success than past years. It was held on October 27, 1984. Each year the party is sponsored by the Student Council and National Honor Society. With special efforts from Caleb Crain and Mr. Platti the organization allowed for a successful three hour event. Not only were there smiles to be seen on all of the children's faces, but students and teachers thoroughly enjoyed themselves also.

There were over 20 booths set up with various games which provided the kids an opportunity to win a prize. Every attempt was made to insure each of the children a treat. Among the costumes to appear at the party we saw a number of students pretending to be football players. It is the sad but honest truth that these costumes did prove later in the day to be only disguises. For not only was it the day of the Third Annual Halloween Party but it was also the day of the framed St. John's vs. Shrewsbury football game. St. John's proceeded to show the Shrewsbury team that their only hope was to pretend to be athletes Regardless, the day will always be remembered for the fun it provided for all.

Excerpts from a Speech given by John Hodgen on Academic Awards Night

Certainly we must realize that awards are significant. They are symbols of achievement and excellence, and they represent a measure of distinction that deserves recognition . . . it is significant to note that awards not only denote individual accomplishments, but also can indicate a collective success.

In considering awards, it is important to realize that, if awards are given out too often, it they are given for what are rightfully minor achievements, then their significance is decreased. We must never reward mediocrity. We must always distinguish between the exceptional and the acceptable.

Let me urge you to consider that awards themselves are essentially meaningless, that awards are mere tokens, that in the larger scheme of things, all our accumulated awards count for very little.

I remember in basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, that I achieved some success in marksmanship, qualifying for an expert badge with the M-16, the M-16 automatic, and the 30 caliber machine gun. It always seemed easy to me, and I literally enjoyed watching the metal pop up targets shaped like human beings pop up and than go down again as I knocked them over one after another.

I remember doing so well that our drill sergeant asked me to help qualify a young Puerto Rican soldier named Osario. He was a gangly, skinny kid who had already fathered two children and who received more mail than any of us, yet who, apparently, couldn't shoot his way out of a barn. He needed to be qualified to get through basic. I agreed to help. It was March and cold that day as we headed up for our final day of qualifying firing. I went up to shoot with the first rank so I could come back and switch jackets with Osario back at the staging area. I put the jacket collar up and kept my head down and went up on line, jumped in the hole and bagan firing. I remember concentrating on deliberately missing targets and then slowly I began to hit with more regularity. The kid from the other company who was scoring me began to root for me, and, sure enough, I managed to qualify Osario as a marksman, almost a sharpshooter.

When I returned to the staging area and told Osario I had qualified him he was so excited he began jumping up and down and hugging me. I felt proud.

It was only later, as we National Guard members began to separate from the friends we had made who were going to remain in the Army, that I began to realize, that with my proficiency and my shooting medals, with my zeal and eagerness to please, I had qualified Osario not only for marksman, but for Vietnam. Osario was now officially qualified to go to Vietnam. He was going over like those pop-up targets, and I was going home. I had been awarded white skin, a college deferment, and a chance to go home because others could take my place. I wear that invisible award each day with a sense of wisdom come too late, shame, and loss. Osario could be dead now-or disfigured. His children must be 15 or 16 years old.

It is the sense of shared awards that is significant, the conception that, for each individual who wins an award, there are those who, for a variety of reasons, cannot receive that recognition

Continue to win awards. Make your life an award Work to win-not only tangible awards of the mind, but also the invisible, but far more significant awards of the heart.

Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

NOUMENON: Just because you kids are under a lot of pressure these days is no excuse not to excel academically. And there are a lot of other kinds of pressure other than peer pressure. For example, there's academic pressure, parental pressure, atmospheric pressure, osmotic pressure . . . But what is pressure anyway? (both raise their hands) Robert.

ROBERT: Force per unit area.

NOUMENON: But Brutus, What pressures are acting on Brutus?

DOROTHY: Well, Brutus is Ceasar's friend, and he doesn't want to hurt him, but also his honor is building up inside and pushing the other way.

NOUMENON: And then what?

ROBERT: His honor wins.

NOUMENON: So, what's the moral of the story?

ROBERT: If you think something's right, go ahead and do it . . . (the bell rings)

NOUMENON: Hey, wait a second . . . homework for tonight is to read the Ogden Nash poem on 126.

DOROTHY: I think I've already read that. Is that the one that goes . . . "There is one point which I am more human on, And that's a noumenon. On due reflection we're apt to find That it is noumenons which lead us to believe that just this once two of a pair will beat three of a kind." (Noumenon interrupts.)

NOUMENON: "It is noumenons which whisper in our hearts that our futures will be brighter than our yores, And noumenons which encourage us to laugh off the black clouds in the west and move the supper table out of doors . . ."

"Shrewsbury High School as represented through its diverse educational programs serves the needs of youngsters who plan to further their education and those youngsters who plan to immediately enter the job market.

"Even though we recognize that technology will assist us with the delivery system of our future programs we are attendant to the continued importance of the human interaction between teacher and students that was exemplified by Plato.

"The staff of Shrewsbury High School will continue to study the social forces that may impact students in the future. Careful attention to these social forces with an eye to an improved delivery system through technology will ensure an educational program that will prepare informed and productive citizens of the future."

SHS - - The Right Combination

"Your High School years are some of the most important, yet, most enjoyable of your lives. It is here that you really begin to establish goals for yourselves and start to look down the road beyond the next year. It is here that you develop friendships which may endure for many years. It is here that you gain awareness of the need for responsible action and being accountable for these actions.

"A good High School must provide not only quality academic instruction but also develop in all students a sense of their roll in the community. The staff and students of Shrewsbury High School have joined together to make great strides towards achieving the proper combination of superior instruction in the classroom and meaningful extra-curricular involvement outside the classroom.

"When students recognize the importance of their High School years and staff assume their rightfull place in students development, an awesome combination is formed which makes it possible to reach for even higher goals. Shrewsbury High School has such a combination."

- Paul F. Gill, Chairman
Shrewsbury School Committee

Paul Gill, presiding over a school committee meeting.

Ferris comments on "Looking Inward, Reaching Upward"

"As your theme 'Looking Inward - Reaching Upward' suggests, the future of S.H.S. depends upon looking out at what we already have and reaching toward making it better.

"S.H.S. is already one of the finest secondary schools in Central Massachusetts. The school environment lends itself to a serious approach to learning and at the same time to enjoying the high school experience in the areas of social and personal growth through participation in school activities.

"I look toward the continued development of a school climate that allows each student to develop to his or her fullest potential in intellectual, social and personal endeavors. Our academic program must continue to reflect a solid core curriculum in language and mathematical skill development and an awareness of the interrelationships of knowledge and the familiy of man through our humanities program. Computers will continue to play a more and more important role in our teaching and learning as will the development of our telecommunications program.

"Most of all, we will continue to develop and emphasize those interpersonal skills of communication and caring which will always be needed if we are to live together in a world with love and understanding."

SHS prepares students for future

"S.H.S. is well on its way to preparing its students for the challenges of the future as well as meeting the students' needs presently."

"The courses and programs necessary for further education and future success are no more nor less important than recognizing and providing for the various and changing developmental needs of our eighth through twelfth grade student body."

Search for basics

"S.H.S. is now looking inward to establish the basic values that are needed for every comprehensive high school to serve its students in the best possible manner. In the years ahead, S.H.S. will, as it has been in the past, progress, not only in innovative teaching and learning, but in maintaining the tenets of purposeful education."

Secretaries drown in sea of work

The secretaries at S.H.S. have many things to do. In fact, they usually feel that they are "drowning in a sea of paperwork". Each has her assigned jobs, but they seem always to be interrupted, and things can get hectic. Visitors will come in, the telephone will ring, and teachers and students always want something to be done. But, despite all of these things, they always manage to stay cheerful and maintain their sense of humor. Many humorous things happen in the office. For example, when school is called off because of snow, someone will call at 1:45 and ask if there is school; while the secretaries huddle around the portable heaters, Mr. Montecalvo will have his air conditioner on; and although the administrators have beepers to summon them to the office, or wherever they're needed, they must learn that the beepers will not work while in desk drawers, at home, or if they're not turned on!

And they say they're so busy!

Can I help you?

To All Teachers:

If you have not already done so, we need a list of seniors and their grades by June 3rd. On June 16th the remaining students' lists of grades are due in the front office. Forms are available in the front office.

To All Teachers:

Due to the havoc in the front office at this time of year, we ask that if possible, you try to get paperwork done elsewhere and not submit any forms to us unless absolutely necessary.

Special services offered

Mrs. Alarie gives us that famous grin.

The Student Service staff offers a wide variety of services to the student body. The nurse is always prepared for her patients whether they suffer from a papercut, different types of flues, unfinished homework or just the blues.

The librarian is always around to help locate materials, check out books, and set up the audio visual equipment.

The Food Service director is responsible for improving the school menu while keeping it nutritious and healthy.

The matron is a dedicated member of the staff who works hard at what she does.

The Junior Red Cross trip to the Shrewsbury Nursing Home is scheduled for February 30. The members going on the field trip will eat first lunch. The bus will leave after first lunch and return to school at 3:00 P.M. Since the patients at the home are diabetic, members may bring cookies and cake to distribute. All members going on the trip should pick up a permission slip form Mrs. DeFalco in the nurse's office, have someone sign it, and return it as soon as possible.

Mr. Helm and Mr. Mulcahy discuss the pros and cons of fire drills.

My dear Mr. Nelson,

I am forced to cancel the library lesson you had planned for your first term students in connection with their study of developmental reading. Sending them here six at a time creates havoc and disorder. They have already misplaced The Heart of Darkness and have put Bullfinch on the Zoology shelf. Two of your students took out books indiscriminantly, that had nothing to do with the assignment. I cannot allow them the facilities of the library until they learn the proper respect for the printed page.

Sincerely,
The Librarian

Students learn to use computer as tool

In a recent interview, the new computer department director, Tom Plati, expressed his ideas views on education. He feels that we must develop, educationally, as to make sure that all students can meet the challenge of the new information age. This means that everyone of our students should feel comfortable using the computer as a tool to solve various types of problems, to access information, and to write creatively. At the same time, we should not lose sight of those precious kinds of social skills and human values that allow us to think, create, and communicate.

Mr. Plati addresses a serious subject.

SHS TV STUDIO BROADCASTS TO COMMUNITY

The Education Television Studio will soon become a voice into our community. The goal for this year is to have live weekly news shows, taped broadcasts, and sports and cultural events that will become a regular part of local broadcast on Shrewsbury Cable Television.

The T.V. production class specializes in teaching students to use all types of telecommunications equipment in order to encourage productions. Students and teachers have an active role in producing programs. If you haven't had the opportunity — drop into the Education Television Studio and explore.

Gee Dean, is the T.V. really your best friend?

"My best friend is a T.V. and if it ever gets out of order, I don't know what to do with myself. A helping hand to all

The guidance department at S.H.S. is in the business of helping students through their high school years. Such help includes academic, personal, and career counseling. Future plans of the department include the increased use of electronic technology (for example computers and educational television) to enhance counseling and guidance services. In addition, the emerging role of educators seems to indicate the need to redefine the exact meaning of "students services" in the context of public education. The department cannot be all things to all people.

PLEASE IGNORE PREVIOUS INSTRUCTIONS IN CIRCULAR #3, PARAGRAPHS 5 AND 6, AND FOLLOW THE FOLLOWING:

Hey, it's Mr. "T"

Mr. Rose caught in a pensive moment.

English Department committed to humanistic ideals

The Shrewsbury High School English Department continues in its commitment to meet the learning needs of all students on all levels while providing them with an interesting and challenging curriculum.

The faculty is "looking inward" by recognizing and using the talents and expertise of its various members and creating situations in which this knowledge is shared with students. Students and faculty look inward each day as literary works and humanistic ideals are discussed. English students are encouraged to recognize, evaluate, and express their feelings in both class discussions and in various writing assignments.

The English Department is also "reaching upward" by constantly improving and expanding its curriculum and methods of evaluation and record keeping. The 1984-85 academic year has seen the renewal of students' writing folders and reading record cards, the revision of recommended reading lists, the offering of word processing and data base instruction to ninth grade English students, and the expansion of the writing program by the use of "focus correcting". The theme of the 1985 Colonial is extremely pertinent to the Shrewsbury High School English Department's goals. The faculty encourages students to look inward and to get in touch with their own feelings, goals, and personal levels of excellence, and then to reach upward by communicating and expressing these thoughts, opinions, and observations in the most correct, effective, honest, and interesting manners possible.

All class meetings will be held in the auditorium. Students who are absent on the day of voting will be allowed to vote on the following day between 8:47 and 8:57 a.m. DUES MUST BE PAID IN ORDER TO VOTE. Students who have Election Day off will be allowed to attend the class meeting and then leave school. All candidates for office should plan to give a Nomination Speech, especially those who have election day off.

Students share talents in new approach to social studies

Dr. Murphy displays her robe.

Caught you red-handed, Mr. James!

Since 1981, the Social Studies department has been introducing humanities through combining discipline, philosophy, and the arts. In this program, students have come together with their talents and interests and have shared them with others. The department encourages more student involvement in the elective courses such as the "Community Studies" and "Western Civilization" programs. This year, video equipment has been used in "American Studies" for the students to evaluate and extend themselves. This program is geared not only to the college-bound student, but also toward the student entering the business world after high school.

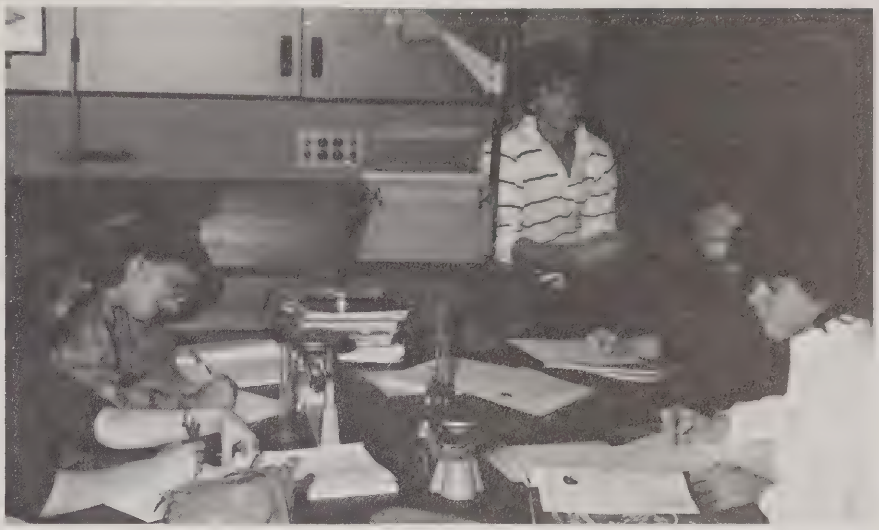
Math/Science: a lesson in logic for students

The educators of the Math and Science department not only help the students learn the basic concepts in mathematics and science, but also help to prepare them for difficult encounters in life. By providing challenging situations, the teachers give students experience in logical thinking skills and critical questioning techniques. This leads to increased self-confidence and more willingness to become self-educators. An important part of Shrewsbury's curriculum is that four years of Math and Science are available for all students, so that each year they can experience the thrill of discovery in the laboratories and the inter-relationship of mathematics to science.



Looks like yet another exciting Physics Lab.

Dear Sir or Madam:
An examination of our payroll records shows that you received a salary overpayment in the amount of $2.75 for last June.

I wonder what kind of chemicals are in this?!

Any teacher interested in receiving their pay in a lump sum payment should check the bulletin boards for information on salary payments.

He spoke of ellipses,
of things coming round again.
He spoke of resistance,
of the forces that act upon us.
He spoke of gravity,
of the earth that draws us to

He said the mass of the earth,
the changes of state.
He said that a body at rest
Would remain at rest.
He said that a boy

The Foreign Language Department provides students with an opportunity to learn not only the language but, also the culture of a foreign country. The department offers Latin, Spanish, and French. The students that are genuinely interested in a language are encouraged to visit these countries. Each year Mr. LaCroix takes a group of students to France, and Miss Mohaghegh offers a trip to Spain, both during school vacations. The reorganization of the Foreign Language Club is an indication of a rising interest in foreign languages.

In a recent interview, Dr. Pauline C. M. Courchesne, Director of the Foreign Language Department expressed her enthusiasm towards the department and the school. "It makes me happy to know that my school offers the students a great number of learning opportunities in so many different areas and that the faculty does make an attempt to implement interdisciplinary activities which open gateways to the more right-brain creative activity, so necessary for both students and faculty."

Hands off until later, Mr. Sullivan!

Business courses prepare students for future

The Business Department offers a variety of courses for students at Shrewsbury High. For the past few years, we have enrolled the largest number of seniors in business classes. Courses in Typing, Accounting, Shorthand, Computer Accounting, Word Processing — Business Practices, and Business Computers are skill-oriented and often lead to employment after high school or to more professional schooling. Introductory Economics, Business Economics, Business Law, Managing Your Money, and Work Study Business are courses which help train students to become more responsible citizens and help them to make sound economic judgments. Society and the world of work have become more complicated and complex over the past few years. The Business Department has tried to keep up with the changing environment by offering a variety of practical courses for students entering the work force or preparing for college.

The music groups of SHS continue to have a strong student involvement. The instrumentalists and vocalists have developed excellent concerts for all to attend. These students work hard to enter Districts, and to compete in festivals, which are held every other year, out of state.

In the past few years, the music department has been working within the humanities, in hopes of increasing school-wide interest in music. A result of this is the Spring Arts Festival, a full day of activities which includes guest speakers and musicians. Students are also working with the Educational Television Studio to add music to the videos.

SHS is very proud to have such a large music development in the school.

Art: emphasis on variety of skills

There are three teachers in the Art Dept., Mr. Deignan, Mrs. Wagner, and Mrs. Poole. The program 8 - 12 offers the opportunity for students to work with a wide variety of materials. Strong emphasis is placed on skills and development of skills. Students are also introduced to ceramics and sculpture and the operation of a kiln and the firing process involved.
Art IV concentrates on professionalism and helping those students who are planning to go to an art college to put together a portfolio of their work. Student work is exhibited in the Boston Globe Show, in posters for the Rotary Club and Women's Club. Presently, the Art Department is illustrating a book on old houses in Shrewsbury.

Mr. Deignan helps with the final touches

Would the person who borrowed the ceramic dolphin from the Art Department showcase kindly return it to Mr. Deignan's office or Art Room. Thank you!

Let's get physical

To All Teachers:

Students delinquent in obtaining gym suits are to be alphabetized and sent to me.

Girls who wish to be excused from gym on "certain days" are to be sent to me with all the pertinent data.

Please discourage excessive dieting in your homeroom.

Mrs. DeFalco
School Nurse

There has been a renewed interest and enthusiasm toward physical education since the addition of our new facilities. Prior to this, the overcrowded conditions limited our offerings and severely restricted the teaching abilities of our staff. We can now offer a comprehensive year-round program with a variety of individual and team sports, dance and aerobics, gymnastics and weight training. Health and psychology of sports are classroom offerings. A full scale intramural program is planned for 1985.

Mr. Munzer, ready and willing to build you into Mr. America.

Heart Fund Dribble-a-thon:

Students who have signed up or are interested in signing up but would like more details are asked to attend a meeting on Wednesday, second period, or Thursday, fourth period, in the auditorium. We would like non-athletes as well as athletes. It will be a fun day, food, cokes, and a lot of laughs as well as helping the Heart Fund.

Individual growth key to Alternative School success

The off-campus alternative program, housed at Coolidge School this year, provides selected students, mostly from grades eight or nine, with an opportunity for individual growth and change. They receive instruction in math, English, social studies, art, and gym and health and group skills and may earn a maximum of 25 credits per year.

Because of its small size, students can receive individual help in all academic areas which allows our kids to experience, many for the first time, school-related success.

Dish it out, clean it up - day in, day out

An integral part of SHS, the custodians and cafeteria workers provide many necessary services to all students and faculty. The custodians, always ready with a smile, do much more than the call of duty demands. Their readiness and willingness to help, no matter what time of day or night, or what the job is, makes them not only a necessity, but a luxury to have around. All day long, the cafeteria workers willingly cater to the demands of the hungry stomachs of SHS. Without the hard work and dedication of these people, SHS wouldn't be the same.

Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

NOUMENON: Uh, excuse me, which way is room 801?

ROBERT: Go straight down this corridor, take a left then go to the second intersection and hang a right. Go down the stairs, take your first right then your second left. Then, when you've passed the pool entrance, take your third left and it should be the first door on the right . . .

NOUMENON: Oh geez, I should have known better.

DOROTHY: Hey, I think that was pretty nasty. I mean would you like anyone doing that to you if you were an underclassman?

ROBERT: Oh, they'll have their turn to have some fun in a couple of years.

NOUMENON: OK, you guys, now seriously, where is 801?

DOROTHY: It's just down this hall on the right. (Noumenon exits.)

ROBERT: Well, aren't you the girl scout this morning.

DOROTHY: Shut up, Robert. Oh, hi Mr. Eddleton (as Noumenon re-enters).

NOUMENON: So, you're up to no good again I see. Picking on freshmen?

ROBERT: It was harmless, I assure you.

NOUMENON: I wonder what it is that makes you guys love to harass freshmen so much. Probably some hormonal imbalance or something . . .

ROBERT: Why, we're just training them to fill our shoes when we're gone. You know, showing them the ropes and everything. They're here to learn, and we're definitely part of that process.

NOUMENON: Sure, sure, now get to class you two . . .

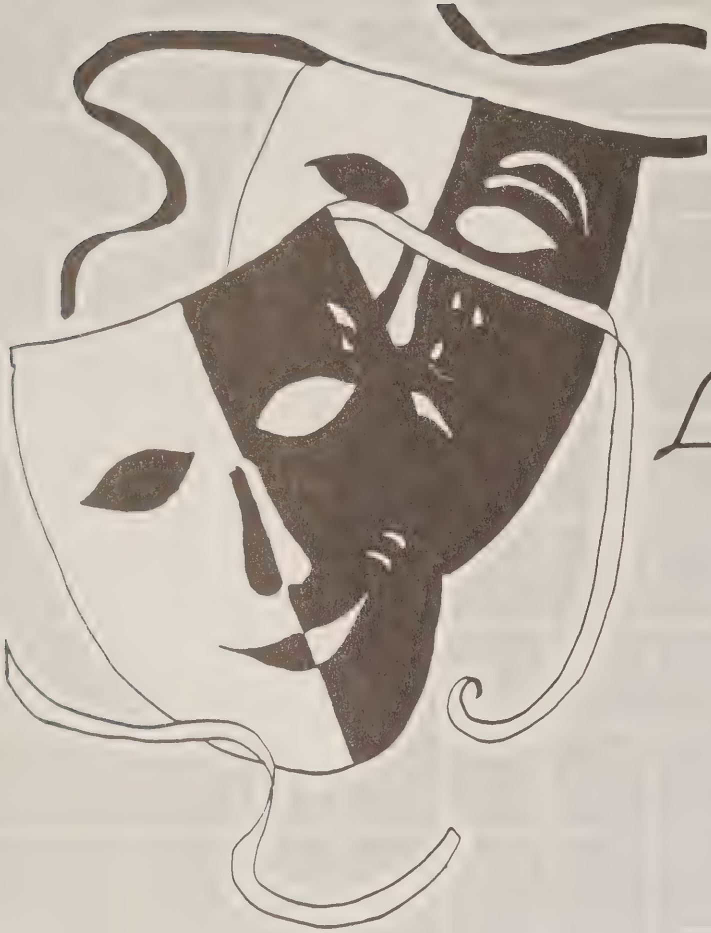
PART II

Reaching Upward



Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

NOUMENON: Tell me about the sports at your school.

ROBERT: We have an awesome football team.

DOROTHY: No way. Actually, our girls' track is the best around. I mean we've got like a one-hundred-twenty meet winning streak . . .

ROBERT: That doesn't change that fact that we have a great football team.

NOUMENON: But practice must cut a lot into your leisure time.

ROBERT: Yeah, all of those hours everyday after school. Sometimes it's a real pain.

DOROTHY: It's worth it, though. I mean we all have to make sacrifices. That's why we're so good.

NOUMENON: What about the coaches, don't they push you awfully hard?

ROBERT: Well, that's their job. They're here to give us pep talks and to make us better than we think we can be . . .

DOROTHY: Yeah, it's that and the team hanging together, even through bad times and tough meets, that makes it really fantastic to play a sport. (She glances at Robert) Although we haven't had a bad meet in a while . . .

ROBERT: Hey, that was a low shot. You know it's not the win-loss record that really counts. It's the feeling of belonging to something worthwhile and trying your best for the team.

DOROTHY: Now, look who's talking like Chariots of Fire.

Coach sparks a new spirit

A new coaching staff took over the football team this year with high hopes. Although a record of 0-10 was not exactly what the team was striving for, the coaching staff and school knew of the consistent performances of the team, as well as the efforts of senior tri-captains Larry Mitchell, Dave Martinelli, and Rusty Austin.

The future is very promising for the S.H.S. football team with such outstanding underclassmen such as Duncan McRae and Jeff Cormier.

The 1984 Junior Varsity Football Team finished their season with an outstanding 8-1-1 record and captured the Midland League Championship. Drilled by Coaches Armento, Ricker, and Hickey most of the standouts on the team, such as D. McCrae, J. Cormier, and S. Cardosi found themselves playing Varsity as well.

The Freshman Team also had a successful 6-2-1 season, capped off by their stunning victory over undefeated Milford and taking second place in their Midland League Division. Trained by Coaches E. Adams, A. Coolidge, and J.P. Pignataro this Freshman Eleven will present a real threat to the Midland League in future years.

The Colonials' Boys' Cross Country team finished their season with a 4-8 record in 1984. Stand-out performances were given by Captains John Driscoll and Tom Farmer, MVP Jim Mulcahy, Noel Milliken, and Ray Riopel. Their final overall standing in Districts was seventh out of forty-seven teams competing. In a sport where the competition is tough, the team's dedication and self-discipline proved to be invaluable assets.

Shrewsbury's Girls' Cross Country team had an incredible season coming in with a 9-2 record. Their only two losses were to Nashoba and Wachusett, which were mostly the result of injuries that plagued the team at that time. They did however come in the number one spot in the Midland League. Led by senior captain, Ellen Dean, the team was full of potential and also possessed many excellent young talents. They can look forward to many more successful seasons.

The start of something new

Zack in his better days

Captains Zack Robbins and Steve Heald

The '84 Boys' Soccer team finished their season respectably with a 7-7-1 record. This was, however, one of their best seasons in recent years, and can be mainly attributed to the excellent leadership and dedication shown by captains Zack Robbins and Steve Heald, and first year coach Mario Pineda. Much aggressive play was also shown by the younger members such as Rich Wright, Steve Lobel, and Sean Hearns. With many team members returning next year and much success to continue, this could be the start of something new.

Go sick MAC!

Zack, really your contact is over here

Although the girl's soccer team had a record of 2-11-2, the first year experience gained by the team promises a future filled with much success. Captained by seniors Joyce O'Connor and Christine Bates, the youthful team of ten freshmen have their hopes set upon the upcoming years.

Besides the two captains, junior Kristen Finnerty and freshman Caryn Figueras added excitement to the team.

Chris's speed and style were sorely missed.

Your name, Maryellen!

O.K. Rat, out of the net!

What are you, primadonnas?

The 1984 Colonial field hockey team finished the season with a 12-2-2 record, one of the best ever at S.H.S. Led by senior co-captains Paula Tumas and Tina Tivnan, the girls finished second in the Midland League, and qualified for the District E Tournament.

At this tournament, the high-powered Colonials reached the semi-finals against Wachusett High School by first beating league rival Westboro 2-0. Against Wachusett the team lost in overtime 1-0.

Throughout the season, strong and consistant performances were given by Cindy Violette, Julie Cardosi, Meg Rooney, Kim Doheny, amd juniors Nicky Bates and Reta Chin. The experience of the twelve seniors was also a valuable asset.

In what was considered a rebuilding season for Mr. Hochstein's quintet, the boys' basketball team completed their season with a respectable 6-8 record. Urged on by their staunch fans, the cagers played inspired ball. With big wins against Northbridge and David Prouty in front of the home town crowd the season looked promising.

The team was guided by Captain David Albright and fellow senior Mike Donnelly. The junior starters, Dan White, Dan Kelly, Dean Hirtle, and Chip Baker contributed to the scoring tremendously.

Finishing this season with a acceptable record, the girls' basketball team proved to be a threat to many of the areas top teams. Captained by seniors Robin McLeod and Lynda Bedard, the young team under a new coaching staff, headed by Kenneth Largess, always gave their fans something of which to be proud. With the fine performances of the captains, as well as the scrappy play of senior Paula Tumas, and juniors Kirsten Losert and Kristen Senosk, the future of the girls' basketball team holds much promise.

The 1984-85 basketball season was brightened by the Colonials' Cheerleading squad. Larger than ever this year, with twenty-five members, including J.V. members, their proud voices were heard loud and clear above the enthusiastically screaming crowds of fans. Many thanks to them !

Girls' Track Clinches League Title

Once again the true power of the Girls' Track team was shown this year at Shrewsbury High School. For an unprecedented six years in a row the girls went the entire season without a loss, picking up the Central Massachusetts and District title along the way. Captained by standouts Chris Bates, Ellen Dean, and Meg Rooney, the team was led to an triumphant victory over league rival Fitchburg. Winning this match clinched not only the league title but it also set the tone for the end of the season meets. With only five seniors on the team of fifty, girls' track at SHS looks to continue it success into next season.

The Boys' Winter Track Team completed its best season in several years. The team checked in with a 8-1 record, suffering its only loss to the District champs and cross-town rival, St. John's. Led by captain Ray Chin, who set the school record in both the hurdles and high jump, the track team crushed most of their opponents. This year's team received performances from seniors Jim Mulcahy, in the mile: John Driscoll, in the 1000 yard; Noel Milliken, 300 yard; and Paul Sandvos, hurdles, which led SHS to a second place league finish and District contender.

The 1985 Colonial Golf team pitched and putted their way through a very successful season as compared to those of years past, finishing with a respectable 7-10 record. The team has grown along with the sport, and its membership increases yearly. With the aid of a new coach and returning players Scott Notargiacomo, Rick Taylor, and Scott Hill, the 1985 team turned some heads this season.

SHS comes to bat with renewed enthusiasm

Baseball, like many sports, requires great endurance, and even though their wins were few and far between, Shrewsbury's baseball team did endure this season. A 6-11-1 record did not prevent the hardballers from producing good contests to their competition. With Mr. Hennigan at the helm as coach, and Dave Martinelli as captain, it's not surprising that the team proved to be such a challenge. Also contributing to the team's durability were returning seniors Rusty Austin, Tim Zona and Bill David.

The Shrewsbury High Girl's Softball team hit and pitched their way to a season record of 6-8. Led by senior co-captain Paula Tumas and junior co-captain Kirstin Losert, the young team proved to be a strong threat in the Midland League. The youth and the experienced players combined to form a team which followed the tradition of yet another well-coached team. Head coach, Ms. St. Onge, built a well-rounded team with outstanding performances by juniors Nicky Bates and Kris Senosk, Kirsten Losert, and seniors Paula Tumas and Kim Doheny also added experience to the team.

Shrewsbury was definitely "the team to beat" this season. Opposing schools knew it was an accomplishment to defeat the Colonials, and not many were able to do it. The team was so well balanced that it was hard to find a weak event. A coordinated team effort produced 8 wins and only 2 losses.

The controlling forces of Shrewsbury's meets were: Chin in the Hurdles & High Jump, Robbins in the Pole Vault, Donahue in the Discus & Sprints, Sandvos in the Javelin & Hurdles, and the team of Milliken & Mulcahy in Distance.

the Colonials' Girl's Track team enjoyed another spectacular year, finishing the season at 9-0. Their record speaks for itself—in May, they not only won an unprecedented seventh straight Class A Crown, but two weeks later, they captured their seventh straight District E title. Much of their success can be credited to their excellent leadership under coaches Nick DiPilato and Jeff Robbins, whose philosophies emphasize the aspects needed for winning—attitude, pride, and class. With two such dedicated coaches, and outstanding players such as Chris Bates, Caryn Figueras, Sue Capite, and Robin McCleod, it's no wonder that the Girl's Track team has such a successful season.

Their 17-0 season record was tarnished in post-season district final play by Wachusett, but nothing could match the individual records of such outstanding players as junior Jessica Trigo, and seniors Ann Marie Pelosky, Joyce O'Connor, and Mary Beth Pelosky.

Coach Joan Couture, with the help of senior co-captains Cindy Violette and Joyce O'Connor, successfully encouraged their team to be the biggest threat in the Midland League.

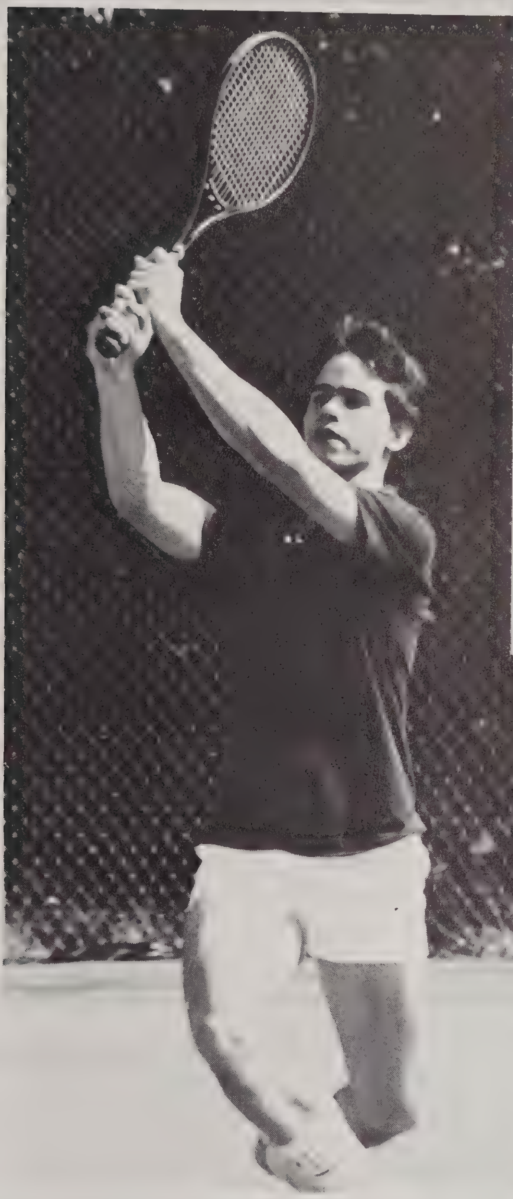
Bouncing back



As compared to those of previous years, the Boy's Tennis team had an excellent season. Under the direction of new coach Jerry Guertin, the team checked in with an 11-6 record. Also for the first time in many years, the team went on to district play which was marred by a tough loss to St. Bernard's. Although the team lost many key players for various reasons, they still possessed the expertise of their captain David Loconto. Other returnees such as Martin Tourigny, Mike Gatzios, and Vincent Scanlon are surely part of the reason for the success of the team.

DOROTHY: Oh great. I get to be in two places at once.

ROBERT: And don't forget to stop in at the math team. They're giving out problems for the meet next Wednesday.

DOROTHY: Oh, I can do those on the bus.

ROBERT: That's what I said about my speech for N.F.L. If it worked for me, it can work for you. But I don't know, I'd been mulling over before.

DOROTHY: You thought about it, but you didn't practice, and you still won something. So, I'll just mull over trig identities, no problems.

ROBERT: Sure, they're my favorite subject to contemplate.

DOROTHY: Oh, really. So, that's what you think about when you sit staring at Ellen in math . . .

ROBERT: Give me a break, will you. I don't stare.

DOROTHY: Right, you just look real hard. Anyway, I'll be seeing her at the N.H.S. meeting. Do you want me to ask her, or are you going to?

ROBERT: I'm going to call her.

DOROTHY: Are you really? I'm pretty sure she hasn't been asked to the prom yet, and it'd be great if you two got together.

ROBERT: Yeah, yeah, you should write a "Dear Abby" column for the paper. So, do you want me to get a set of those problems for you or not?

DOROTHY: Sure, get them. Can you give them to me in history?

DOROTHY: (Singing) "In excelsis de-e-e-o. Glor . . ."

NOUMENON: Now everyone. Together at the same place. Ready.

ROBERT and DOROTHY: "In excelsis de-e-e-o . . . In excelsis de-e-e"

NOUMENON: O.K. On this next page, I want you to have an echo effect. First line loud, second soft, then crescendo slowly, "de-e-e-o", until you tie it off, but smother it gently. Nobody should die.

ROBERT and DOROTHY: (mf with crescendo) "Gloria in excelsis deo . . ." (subito p and staccato) "we're the class of eighty-five."

NOUMENON: Oh, a reminder for the people in the musical, we will have a rehearsal tomorrow night for the last two scenes. That includes the orchestra.

DOROTHY: Now I'm in trouble. I haven't even taken a look at my part yet.

ROBERT: Don't worry about it. It's pretty easy. You'll probably be able to sight read it.

DOROTHY: Yea, I suppose I can look at it tomorrow afternoon before rehearsal.

ROBERT: How do like the Vaughn Williams thing?

DOROTHY: I think the trumpet part is beautiful. Do you like it?

ROBERT: I don't know. The intonation in the middle section sounds off.

NOUMENON: Let's try it again, second ending, no repeats.

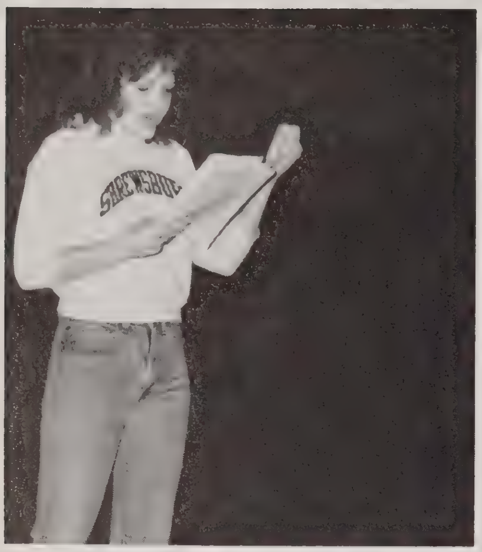
Sparkle seniors, sparkle!!

The concert choir carries on the tradition of excellence that is so well known at SHS. A wide variety of musically inclined students participate in choir, and this year, choir can even boast of three foreign exchange students as members. The choir's many fine performances are due in part to the talents of its many students, and in part to the brilliant direction of director Jack Feldheimer. After years of dedication as a music instructor at SHS, Mr. Feldheimer was rewarded this year by being chosen as a finalist in the Massachusetts Teacher of the Year Award.

A Cappella captivates Christmas audience



Just what do you think you're doing ?

A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Mr. Jack Feldheimer, is a small vocal group that sings without accompaniment. Before being accepted into this select group of singers, each participant must audition. In this way, the audience can be assured of their harmonious voices at the various concerts and festivals at which they perform. Like all school activities, the A Cappella Choir constantly strives to maintain its distinction.

Show them how its done, Paul.

The Jazz Ensemble creates an opportunity for young musicians to express themselves in music. Mr. Vella works with a small, talented group of high school musicians, allowing them to experience playing jazz; however, jazz is not the only style played. They also experiment with blues, ballads, and rock tunes. Improvisation is a large part of jazz, and the students are allowed to test the limit of their musical abilities.

Shrewsbury High's own jazz quartet

BAND ADDS SPIRIT, COLOR, AND VIGOR TO SHS

One of our more serious band moments

Presenting Shrewsbury's own "little drummer boy"

Under the direction of Mr. Louis Vella, "band" is the largest of SHS's musical groups. They are also perhaps the busiest of all groups. Over the course of a year, they pour their spirit and vigor into festivals, concerts, and parades, as well as supplying the entertainment at halftime during all home football games. Dedication to their instruments, as well as to their organization, is required from all 125 members, who range in age from the eighth grade to the twelfth grade. The music the band provides adds spirit and color to many aspects of life here at SHS.

Our own fearless leader, Ray Chin.

Let's hear it for the Q-tips—er, I mean the Band!

Their legacy is preparing for the big leagues

The eighth grade band in concert

Let's hear it for the peanut gallery

The legacy of the High School Band is passed down through the grades, so that when the grade eight musicians reach the high school they are well prepared to work under the direction of Mr. Philip Koziara. This training prepares them for their future musical training, and enables them to become members of the High School marching and concert band.

Senior Deirde Morrissey receives her orchestra award

The Shrewsbury High School Orchestra, live and in action

Many students exhibit their Shrewsbury stamina by joining the orchestra. Learning to play classical instruments, such as the violin or the cello is no easy accomplishment, and these students should be rewarded for their efforts. This year, the orchestra members have proven themselves to be exceptionally talented. Under the direction of Mr. Ralph Metcalf these students have formed a truly extraordinary performing group.

Music Awards Night The Perfect End . . .

Senior Virginia Petronio graciously thanks "her public"

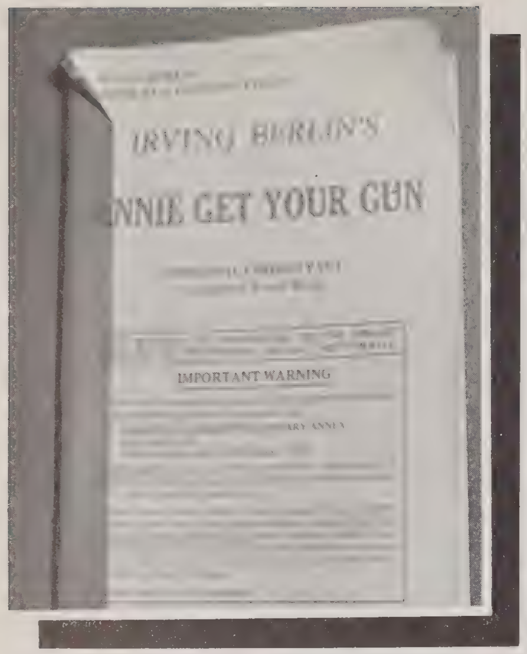
Gee, are you sure there's nothing there for me?

The annual Music Awards Night provided the perfect end to a year full of music making. It was an opportunity to recognize individual achievements, as well as a final send-off for the seniors. Members of the Band, Orchestra, Jazz Ensemble, Concert Choir, and A Cappella Choir, as well as Flag Corps and Majorettes, gathered with their parents and friends to applaud for one another and celebrate the close of yet another successful year for the music makers of SHS.

Aw, you shouldn't have!



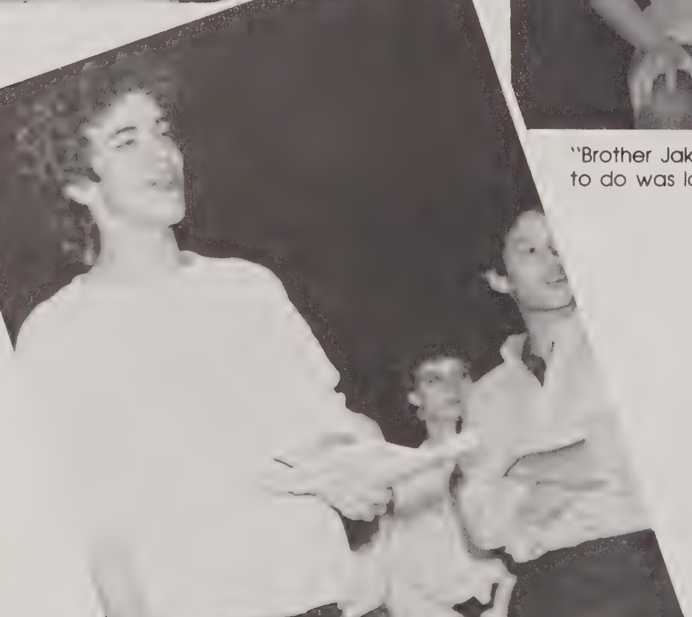
IRVING BERLIN'S

NNIE GET YOUR GUN

IMPORTANT WARNING

ANNIE GET YOUR GUN

"Brother Jake knows one sex from the other. All he had to do was look."



Shrewsbury High School students took to the stage in Irving Berlin's colorful musical Annie Get Your Gun. This was Shrewsbury's seventeenth annual musical, and it carried the tradition of excellence known throughout the area for SHS musicals. The fame of the musicals is due not only to the talented students Shrewsbury has had, but also to the dedication and direction of Mr. Jack Feldheimer.

Annie Get Your Gun is based on the true story of Annie Oakley, a poor Oklahoma girl known as "little sure shot." Senior Meg Rooney starred in the title role, while, Zach Robbins played opposite her as leading man Frank Butler, Displaying their talents were Peter Savageau as Charlie Davenport, Dadene Robert as Dolly Tate, and Adam Edwards as Colonel Buffalo Bill.

Looking Inward, Reaching Upward

DOROTHY: Are you going to cry at graduation?

ROBERT: No.

DOROTHY: I am. We're never going to see each other again.

ROBERT: We all live in the same town. And the addresses are right here so you can write.

DOROTHY: But even if we do see each other, it'll be different. We won't belong to each other the way we do now.

ROBERT: Look at it this way. I see this as a place we go for four years, and part of it is lost forever when we leave, but another part remains inside us forever.

DOROTHY: But we won't have lockers to pin sex symbols or beer labels in, or media centers to take books from without filling out the card, or fake wood desks with green gum and a wobbly foot that someone's unscrewed the bottom of. And we won't have any more of those french fries that are served on yellow styrofoam.

ROBERT: Or yellow corridor passes or blue computer passes. No more pep rallies to scream our lungs out at each other across the gym, or putting up "Flush the Johns" posters before games with St. John's.

DOROTHY: No more bathrooms being locked when you really need them. No more fire drills in freezing rain.

ROBERT: No more getting up early to huddle over the radio, listening hopefully while you watch the street turn white and rubbing your feet and hoping you can get back in bed.
